Solar Fire Gold is now in Version 8

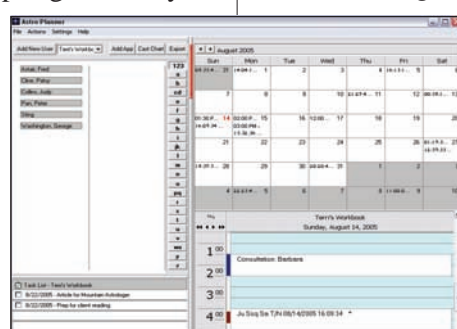

The 65 new asteroid glyphs enable you to fit extra asteroids nicely into the main wheel.

The big news is that the latest version, Solar Fire Gold v8, now offers the complete array of locational astrology tools from the acclaimed Solar Maps 3 program—including fixed stars, parans, animated maps and even locational interpretations. Also new are fuller sets of other interpretations, your choice of extra points in the main chart wheel, a professional appointments manager, innovative tools for teachers, over 500 new timed, sourced and categorized celebrity charts, and more. (Details, including prices for upgrades from earlier versions, are on pages 2-7.)

A new incarnation of Nova and Chartwheels to complement Solar Fire

Astrolabe's innovative calculation program continues in the tradition of Robert Hand's 1980s Nova and Chartwheels software. But instead of attempting the encyclopedic completeness of Solar Fire, the new Nova Chartwheels for Windows concentrates on providing astrology's most complete and in-depth software for symmetrical astrology studies and dial work.

Besides having a to-do list, daily schedule and address book, the Nova Chartwheels Planner has a printable monthly calendar that can show the transits to any chart.

Very different in style from Solar Fire, Nova Chartwheels gives the old-time sensation of being at a paper-strewn desk, working the dials to investigate each new thought as it occurs. Nova Chartwheels also provides an extraordinary array of productivity tools for the busy professional. This includes a free Planner that can organize not only your practice, but the rest of your life as well. (Details on pages 8-9.)

Now you can cast charts on your tablet or smartphone

With Celeste, Astrolabe's FREE astrology app, you can now calculate a chart or check current astrological conditions any time, anywhere. (See back cover for details.)

Serving Astrologers since 1979

What's new in Solar Fire Gold v8

New Locational Power

Version 8 now includes the full professional-strength version of Solar Maps. For locational work you can now:

New Convenience

- ◆ Improved chart animation: Jump to animation from the regular chart view, change the locality of the subsidiary charts, and now move in weekly as well as other increments.
- ◆ Printable eclipse lists: Copy and print either brief or detailed results of your eclipse searches.

Plus these features from the v7.3 "sneak peek" at v8:

- ◆ Lynda Hill's in-depth Sabian symbols interpretations—as an oracle, as point-and-click interps on the wheel, and as a Sabian Symbols report you can sell.
- ◆ House and sign interps for Sedna, Eris, Selena and the Black Moon Lilith.
- ◆ Expanded interps for natal, progressed and transiting charts.

New Display Options

Now, besides having them in a separate extra-points ring, you can mix up to fifty extra points (like stars, asteroids arabic parts and mid-points) in with the regular planets in the main wheel ring.

- ◆ Glyphs for 65 additional asteroids (and recently discovered planets like Haumea and Makemake).
- ◆ New bi-wheel option shows house cusps for both charts.
- ◆ Informative new wheels that show the ruling planets for terms (Egyptian or Ptolemy) and faces.
- ◆ New Vedic single and bi-wheels with 120-year (and longer) dasa tables.

Additional "chart art" pages in Version 8 include a series of charming old-style drawings for each Sun sign, a series for the twelve house positions of the composite chart's Sun, and other attractive new designs for sale and gift-giving.

Fantastic Aspect Facilities

Solar Fire's Aspect Editor window lets you select from 26 predefined aspects, plus define unlimited aspects of your own.

Advanced options let you set different orbs for each pair of points, do unidirectional, sign-to-sign or "3-D" (off-the-ecliptic) aspects, and use Traditional moieties. You can create an unlimited number of aspect sets for different purposes.

You can see aspects as optional lines in the center of the chart; in square, triangular or synastry grids; in a list sorted with the closest aspects first, and in aspect analysis printouts. Plus, Solar Fire can point out 25 types of multi-aspect patterns, from grand trines and t-squares to grand sextiles and quintiles, heles and rosettas.

Aspect Highlighting makes the pattern of lines clearer, enabling thicker lines for closer aspects, and dotted lines for aspects that are separating.

Aspect Filtering filters out all aspect lines and grid items that you're not currently studying. (Here, only the aspects to Mercury are showing.)

Provides a Lavish Selection of Everyday Tools

Amazing Chart and Time Searches

Check how astrological concepts actually work out in practice! Solar Fire's Chart Search will find charts in your files that have one or many factors in common. Not just a given body being in a certain sign, house or aspect—but also highly complex combinations of multi-planet aspect patterns, phase relationships, rulerships, almutens, horary considerations, and more.

Or use Solar Fire's Electional Search to search any timespan you specify. Now it's easy to find times that meet the ideal electional conditions for starting a project. Or quickly locate every historical period that has a given combination of astrological factors.

Powerful Relocation Aids

With the newly powerful Solar Maps module you get customizable maps that show all the geographical locations where a chart's planets, principal asteroids and/or stars would be angular or in paran. Plus, you can see actual or geodetic zodiac lines, eclipse paths and local space maps and wheels. You can also get point-and-click line interpretations as well as salable relocation reports.

123 world and regional maps let you combine astrolocality, local space, eclipse and other lines, in one map—and also see the transiting, progressed and directed lines as they move!

Heavenly Predictive Features

Solar Fire's extraordinary hilitists enable you to combine transits, progressions, directions, primaries, annual profections, ingresses, stations, eclipses, void-of-course Moon periods and more into one timeline, and also sort them in other useful ways. You can even include things like asteroids, hypothetical planets, house cusps and midpoints. Alternatively, you can view most of these events in handy weekly or monthly calendar form.

You can also cast a huge variety of forecasting charts, and save them for future use. Plus, Solar Fire's Life Events storage makes it easy to keep a record of past occurrences to help you judge the probability of future events.

"Time Map" bar graphs show how transits, progressions, etc. overlap in time. Graphic Ephemerides show the speed and direction of planets. They vividly depict planetary stations and complexes or "knots" of aspects happening simultaneously. Solar Fire does geo and helio transiting, progressed and directed graphic ephemerides in a variety of moduli and coordinate systems, including declination.

Solar Fire's Animated Chart may well become your favorite way to predict! Just click forward or back in time, and watch the changes in from 1 to 4 charts (natal, transiting, progressed and directed). You can do this with wheels, aspect grids, and even whole page layouts. On wheels, watch aspect lines thicken as an aspect approaches exact, and become dotted as it separates.

Traditional and Horary

Solar Fire provides special strength in Classical, medieval and Renaissance techniques. It includes traditional planet sets and rulerships; whole-sign, Alcabitius and other traditionally appropriate house systems; and sign-to-sign aspects and moieties. It tabulates dispositors, antisia, Arabic lunar mansions, mutual receptions, essential dignities, almutens, hylegs, planetary sect, planetary days/hours, and horary considerations. Plus, its Chart and Electional Searches will find virtually any of these factors in your saved charts or any time period. For prediction, you can use various methods of firdaria, annual profections, term directions, and primary directions.

Solar Fire also has remarkable Rulership, Arabic Parts, and Dignity/Almuten Editors that enable you to create more Parts and specify the way these old techniques are done.

Plus, with its 18 types of prenatal epoch charts, Solar Fire provides the most complete array of prenatal charts anywhere.

Eclipses

Solar Fire's Eclipse Search lets you search any timespan between 2000 BCE and 3000 CE for solar and/or lunar eclipses in a given Saros series, eclipses that aspect a specified zodiacal position, or eclipses that aspect a given chart. For each eclipse found, you can see the eclipse type, Saros number, magnitude and duration. You can view chart wheels for the moment of maximum eclipse, and can print or copy the whole list of eclipses with or without the details. You can also incorporate eclipses into the regular dynamic hitlists.

Chart pages can show prenatal eclipses, and you can also include these as sensitive points in wheels and dials.

Eclipse-path maps show where solar eclipses will be partial, and where they will be total. They include eclipses from 1801 to 2200, with the Saros series and other information.

Covers All Manner of Astrological Schools, Styles and Topics

Esoteric and Prenatal

Designed by esoteric astrologers, Solar Fire features Vulcan, the heliocentric position of the Earth, and Charles Jayne's esoteric planets, plus both esoteric and hierarchical rulerships and esoteric aspects and colors. It also includes tables, graphs and interpretations of the Seven Rays.

RAYS
1st Ray	Red
2nd Ray	Blue
3rd Ray	Green
4th Ray	Yellow
5th Ray	Orange
6th Ray	Cyan
7th Ray	Purple

Besides showing parallels and contra-parallel in the full aspect grid, Solar Fire make parallels and out-of-bounds planets easy to spot by showing declinations in sorted tables and graphic declination strips. For forecasting, dynamic hitlists and graphs show transits, progressions and directions in declination. Plus, you can print ephemerides showing declinations as they change over time. And for advanced declination analysis, Solar Fire calculates longitude equivalent charts and tables.

Declination Studies

Declination Graphs can be transiting, progressed, and now also directed (à la Charles Jayne).

Declination Graphs can be transiting, progressed, and now also directed (à la Charles Jayne).

Cosmobiology and Uranian

Solar Fire includes Uranian planets and the Aries point, and single, bi, tri and quad 90°, 360° and other dials, with a pointer that reveals midpoints and aspects.

It also has midpoint trees; midpoint lists sorted by planet, modulus or mode; and Munkasey Midpoint Weighting Analysis. Plus, you can use the Arabic Parts Editor to create 3-point planetary pictures, and then add these as sensitive points to wheels, dials and predictive hitlists.

Fixed Stars

Solar Fire provides the position, magnitude, spectral class and other info on 290 stars. Its extraordinary Fixed Star Editor lets you add more stars, sort them, print star lists, and find exact star positions in eras remote from our own. You can put stars into chart wheels, listings and astro-maps, list planet-star aspects and parans, and print ephemerides showing star positions over the eons. (Adding the Galastro database, you can even put black holes, quasars, etc. into the Planetarium and your charts. See page 7.)

The Solar Fire Planetarium shows the true relation of natal planets to the fixed stars. Clicking on or near a major star brings up information on the star, including a carefully thought-out modern interpretation.

Full of Pleasing Screens and Printouts

Specially designed for ease of use, Solar Fire puts virtually all its functions into simple, straightforward menus. To learn what the program can do, simply click on each menu item.

As software designer Paul O. Hewitt observed, "You always know where you are in the program. . . . Once you've learned how to change one thing, you will notice that [Solar Fire's author] has used the same approach almost everywhere. . . . You don't need to reach for the manual to understand what is going on."

If you're the type who likes to consult a manual, it exists as a pdf file on your hard disk. Even more convenient: for help with the screen you're currently using, just hit the F1 key.

Add Black Holes, Quasars and More to Solar Fire

Thanks to Solar Fire fan Phil Sedgwick’s research, you can now also use Solar Fire Gold to see how more than 1,100 black holes, pulsars, quasars, x-ray sources and other deep-space objects relate to any given chart. Just as you can with fixed stars in Solar Fire, you can list the aspects and parans that these mysterious objects make to natal points, and you can plot them in Solar Fire’s Planetarium view along with the fixed stars. Plus, you can place their positions next to the chart in tables or even around the chart wheel itself. Includes Sedgwick’s thoughts on the meaning of many of these objects in the horoscope.

NOVA CHARTWHEELS

A Special Kind of Calculation Program for In-Depth Student and Professional Use

Built to complement Solar Fire, the new Nova Chartwheels doesn't have every astrological technique that you can think of. Instead, it is an in-depth implementation of the tools a professional uses every day.

Most particularly, it goes into dial work with unprecedented depth. This gives a working astrologer exceptionally powerful precision tools for natal analysis, forecasting, relationship work, elections and rectification.

This new program builds its extensive, high-precision calculations upon Robert Hand's venerable Nova and Chartwheels programs released in the 1980s. However current Astrolabe President Gary Christen and Programming Director Raymond White have rethought and updated and added to these earlier programs in the light of two additional decades of work and the vastly greater pictorial possibilities of the Windows operating system.

A Revolutionary Approach

The result is a program unlike any other. In standard astrological software, you first cast the charts and hitlists and then look at the results. In contrast, Nova Chartwheels encourages you to work directly from the screen, accessing just the information you need, right at the moment you need it. With its powerful Working Data box and its ability to accumulate on the screen all the wheels, dials and listings that you need for a reading, Nova Chartwheels becomes a seamless extension of your brain.

Although you can, at any time, print anything that interests you, we hope that you won't have to do that. We sincerely hope that you will do all your work on the screen in front of you and never have to use your printer again.

Working directly from the screen cuts down on desk clutter. It also saves waiting for printouts. Most important, it gives you the power to instantly follow up a new train of thought, and immediately address whatever questions your clients bring up during a reading.

A Symmetry User's Dream

While Nova Chartwheels can accommodate various methods of working, it is centered around Symmetrical astrology techniques. It was designed by long-time Uranian professional Gary Christen to be his dream program. Accordingly, it does all kinds of dial work and the techniques of the Hamburg School with particular completeness and convenience. It is also an exceptionally fast and fluid working medium for Cosmobiologists.

Interpretation

Info

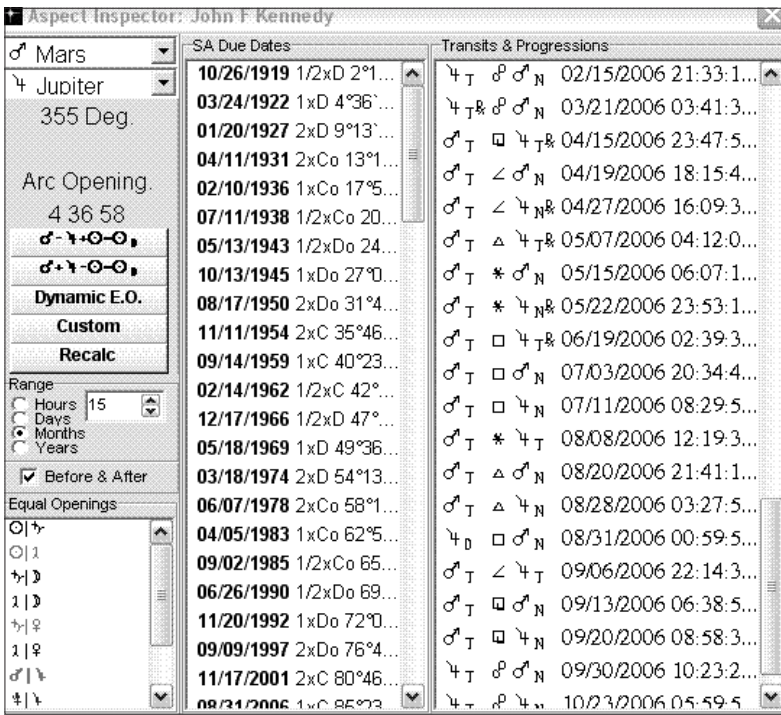

♀ The loving man. The lovers. Love, harmony on earth. To enjoy beauty on the way.

Keywords for planets, midpoints and planetary pictures are easily accessible to start your interpretations flowing.

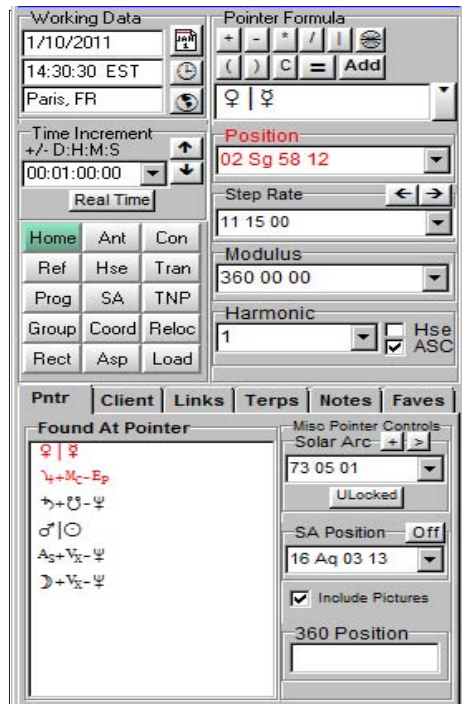

The screenshot displays the Nova Chartwheels interface with several overlapping windows. The main window shows a natal chart for John F. Kennedy, born May 29, 1917, at 3:00:00 PM EST in Brookline, Mass. Other windows show charts for Jackie Onassis, Rose Kennedy, and JFK Assassins. A data box on the right lists planetary positions and aspects. An interpretation window is also visible, providing text for the current chart.

Free-form design fits the way you work. Just clone a chart to create different windows showing it simultaneously as a regular wheel, 360° dial, 90° dial, aspect grid, etc. Arrange different charts and chart views on the screen in the way that feels natural to you. Each wheel or table is in its own window, so that you can lay out charts on the screen much as you would the papers on your desk (except that they stay more organized on the screen!). To bring a different wheel, listing, etc. to the top, just click on the appropriate wheel window, tab or control button.

The unique Aspect Inspector window revolutionizes predictive work. Select any pair of points, and it shows the aspect (if any), the exact arc opening, and any other pairs of points that have the same opening. Plus, within the timespan you specify, it shows all transiting and progressed aspects between those points, the dates when solar arcs will connect the two points, and the times when the two points will repeat their natal arc opening by transit. You can click on any of these items to see a full chart for the event.

The Working Data box is like a master control panel, enabling you to instantly access a huge variety of information on the chart whenever the need arises. Just change the Working Date (top left), and the transits, progressions and solar arcs in all open charts and listings will automatically update to that instant.

Sharp, professionally designed dials can hold multiple charts simultaneously and make it easy to detect symmetrical patterns, including patterns between charts. For precision, you can consult midpoint, planetary picture and other listings at the side.

Solar Fire or Nova Chartwheels? Many Astrologers Will Want Both.

Solar Fire has many features that are not in Nova Chartwheels. However, with its extensive client management facility and its fast, direct way of working, Nova Chartwheels is a powerful productivity tool for busy professionals. It is also the ultimate tool for astrologers who want to get precise, concrete results through the special power of midpoints, planetary pictures and other types of astrological symmetry. Available by download or on a CD.

- Nova Chartwheels (Pre-release version w. built-in ACS Atlas), $220
- Upgrade from the DOS programs Nova, Chartwheels, Printwheels, CCRS or AstroAnalyst, $119

Create files of your favorite sensitive points for particular issues, and keep them ready on the "Faves" tab to add to any chart.

Computer Requirements

This powerful program demands the best. We recommend Win XP, Vista or 7; 256MB RAM (1GB for 32- or 64-bit Vista or 7), 1200 MHz Pentium, Centron, Athlon, Duron or Sempron chip; display at least 1024x768 (1248x1024 and a 17-inch screen recommended for desktops); CD ROM drive; CD or DVD burner; microphone; and an internet connection for emailing readings and accessing program updates and forums.

The Pre-Release Version

As of 7/1/12, Nova Chartwheels version 0.985 has been extensively beta-tested, and it includes a printed quickstart manual and preliminary audio-visual instructions. Puts the pieces together when you're dealing with any group of charts.

Three programs for the price of one, JigSaw 2.2 is the complete tool for:

Rectification: Deduces birthtimes from the charts of life events

Research: Tabulates and graphs specified factors in research and control groups

Family Patterns: Reveals the hidden links between the charts in any group

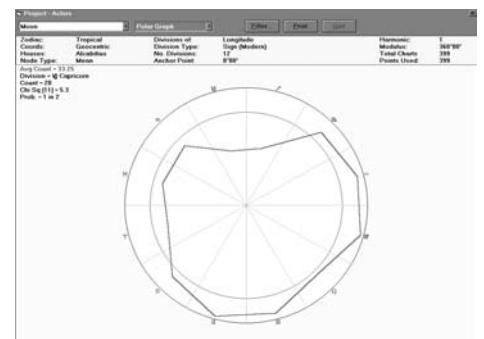

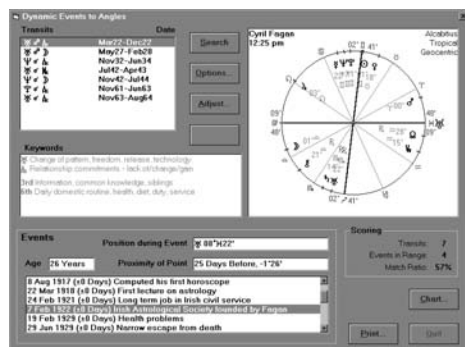

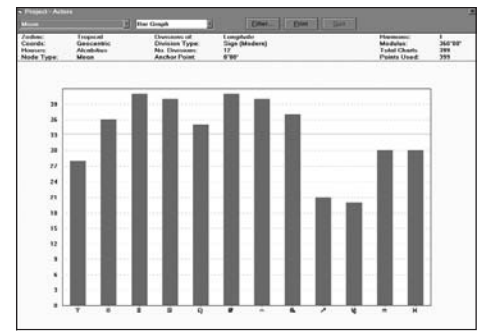

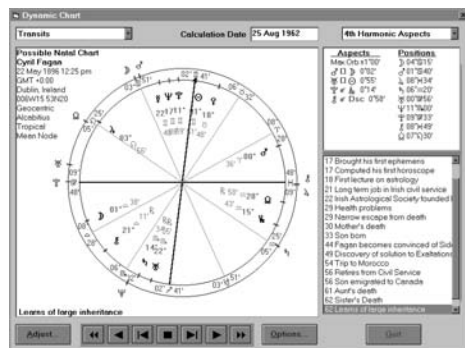

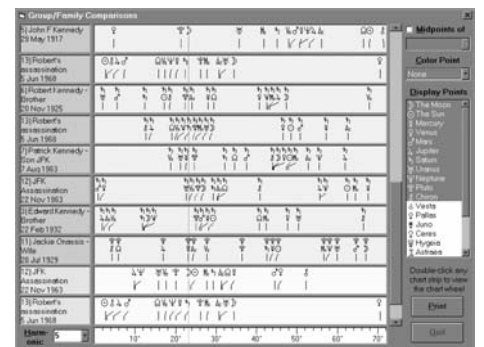

THE NEW TUTORIAL VERSION

New in Version 2.2:

- A built-in 5.5-hour, 18-lesson multimedia tutorial by JigSaw's brilliant co-designer Bernadette Brady. She explains not only how to use the program's many features, but also the theories behind them. Now you'll be able to use the awesome power of JigSaw to the max!
- Longitude, latitude and the latest time change info is now automatically supplied by a built-in ACS Atlas. This makes entering chart data easier than ever.
- JigSaw 2.2 is compatible with the new Solar Fire 6/Solar Fire Gold chart files. It also exports rectification events to their life-event lists.
- Plus, you can now copy rectification events and research results into word-processing documents and emails. Great for communicating with clients and fellow researchers!
- Chart calculations cover a 10,800-year timespan and have new Swiss-Ephemeris accuracy.
- Besides being compatible with Windows 95 and higher, JigSaw 2.2 is fully compatible with Vista (including 64-bit) and Windows 7.

“Fast proving itself to be an essential part of the rectifier’s toolkit.”
 – Considerations, Vol. 10, No. 3.

“One of the most enjoyable astrological programs I have ever used.”
 – Kenneth Negus, PhD

“The more I have used it, the more application I think of for it.”
 – Graham Bates, AA Journal

can optionally be automated, to speed the work of professionals and enable beginners to deal with unknown birthtimes. You just enter the natal chart details, giving a range of possible times, and then input at least ten life events. Instantly JigSaw comes up with a list of suggested birthtimes ranked in order of the scores that they receive when tested against transits, progressions and directions.

JigSaw also gives you full control to rectify manually. To help you select the most likely birthtime from the list of proposed times, it lets you recheck the life history against the suggested charts, letting you judge transits to the possible chart angles according to the type of event. As an aid to doing this, you can watch the transiting, progressed and solar-arc planets move around a chart wheel as you either click on each life event individually or move steadily through time.

Besides rectifying with transits, progressions (secondary and tertiary), and solar arc directions, you can use helio positions along with the usual geocentric.

Even when you know the birthtime, JigSaw's rectification module is useful for tracking how a chart has responded to transits in the past. This enables you to tweak a known birth time to improve the accuracy of forecasts. Plus—since it intelligently accepts input of events even when you don't know the exact time or date—JigSaw is the perfect place to keep a record of all your life events.

To get you started, JigSaw includes a wealth of free databases:

- Life events for Buzz Aldrin, Cyril Fagan and Richard Nixon
- 34 timed astronaut charts
- 43 timed British royal family charts
- 13 timed natal and event charts for the Kennedy family
- 41 timed charts of U.S. presidents
- 21 dated charts of Australian prime ministers
- 55 dated charts of popes
- 399 dated charts of stage and screen stars
- 629 dated charts of published Australian poets
- 500 worst storms, 1600-1990 CE
- 1,600 dated charts of popular musicians
- 1,900 rainfall records
- 130+ prominent Australians, categorized by profession

THE NEW TUTORIAL VERSION

becomes much easier—and actually fun—when you do it with JigSaw. To create a research group, you can enter birth data directly into this program. For convenience, JigSaw 2.1 now includes the complete ACS PC Atlas, which automatically looks up the longitude, latitude and time changes for you.

Alternatively, you can import charts from Solar Fire, *Blue*Star*, QuickCharts, Astrolabe Reports, Nova Chartwheels, or any other program in the Nova System. You can also use charts from the chart collections sold by Astrolabe (see page 14) or collections like the AstroDataBank. Plus, you can import chart data that is in plain text format.

For all the charts in a large database, you can easily change the zodiac (tropical or any sidereal), house system (nine, plus equal from any point), node (mean or true) or coordinate system (geo or helio).

Most important, JigSaw makes it easy to generate matched or random control groups. You can also easily separate specific charts (like all with Mars in Aries, etc.) into separate data files for further study.

The data files that you create can be of unlimited length. To each record, you can add unlimited numeric or textual data fields, and then you can use JigSaw's Boolean logic to select or filter the records in the file.

JigSaw's powerful Criteria Search offers an almost endless list of conditions you can search for. Just some of the possibilities include planets in signs, houses, decanates, essential dignities, declinations and azimuths.

Select any combination of criteria, and you'll quickly get a graphic display of the results. Both bar and polar graphs let you see in a flash whether the effect is worth pursuing, and tables give you the exact figures. To get an instant chi-square evaluation, you can simply click on any part of a table or graph.

JigSaw enables you to keep a file of notes on each of your projects. You can also make high-resolution printouts of all the charts, tables, graphs and diagrams, either for a personal record or for articles and research papers. Plus, in the new 2.2 version, you can easily share your research results in emails and word processing documents.

Family Patterns

features a first in the astrology world—a Group Astro Dynamics report, written by the renowned astrologer Bernadette Brady. It's amazing what this can tell you about your family, company, organization or circle of friends. Just input three or more charts, and specify the type of group (family, social, peer, competitive or decision-making). Out comes a report of up to 10 pages, giving you:

- The group's house and sign emphasis
- The prominent harmonic and mid-point patterns, complete with an analysis of any vacant points
- Brady's insightful interpretations revealing the patterns of the group, including what each individual contributes to the group dynamic.

JigSaw comes with different sets of interpretations specifically for each type of group.

The Family Patterns section also enables you to manually search for patterns within groups of charts. In the Display mode, you can view charts side by side in linear rather than circular form. This immediately lets you see what degrees are shared by the charts in any harmonic. Once you have determined the pattern, you can click on the Delineate button and produce your own profile report with interpretations.

JigSaw's Family Patterns module provides a fascinating way to study any human group. It can also reveal the common patterns in stock market movements, earthquakes, weather events and other groups of related charts.

“Set JigSaw up in your PC (a few minutes only), enter data (no time at all), and expect to spend the rest of the day engrossed by the important relationships you'll discover.”
--Ken Gillman, Considerations

The Imperial Astrologer

Your Gateway to

Chinese Astrology

The Imperial Astrologer takes Chinese astrology calculations far beyond the 12 animal signs. It also includes a 78-page tutorial that gets you started understanding and interpreting the calculations. The tables it generates include keywords, and there is a gracefully written 2-page natal interpretation by Malvin Artley that makes an attractive gift or item that you can sell.

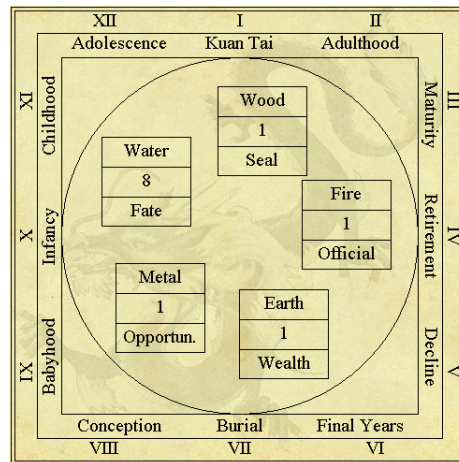

You start by entering birth data (with the help of a full built-in ACS Atlas) or using a chart already cast in Solar Fire. The Imperial Astrologer then computes your place in several Chinese methods of timekeeping, including the solar and lunar month and year, the day of the lunar month, and the Chinese double hours and minutes.

Then you can screen-view or print out both natal and predictive tables, diagrams and lists. Your choices are:

- A Four Pillars diagram, listing and interpretive report. Based on the natal chart, this deals with the Year Pillar (animal sign and element, signifying one's ancestors and social group), Month Pillar (birth family), Day Pillar (self and partner), Hour Pillar (children, friends, creativity) and Minute Pillar (legacy to the future). The listing includes the relationships among the pillars and elements, the constellation of the day, Japanese and Chinese versions of the 9-Star Ki, and the tetragram for the birth.
- A Tzu Wei natal chart and 6-page tabulation with brief delineations on specific areas of

As an added thoughtful touch, the opening screen displays the current day's tetragram and its meaning.

- A Chinese Calendar listing for the year following the chart date. Includes the dates and times of that year's lunar months and also of its solar points (Chinese-named subdivisions of the tropical zodiac seasons).

- An Event Fate Cycle graph and listings of the current year's progressed minute, hour, day, month and year pillars. Shows their symbolism, subperiods that they cover, and their chances for strength, productivity, creativity, learning and balance.

Early Astrology by Rumen Kolev

The Ultimate Tool for Ancient and In Mundo Astrology

Recently released, the new Placidus 7 combines the primary directions and Hellenistic/Arabic/Medieval techniques of Dr Kolev's earlier programs with a whole new and very complete module for Mesopotamian astrology.

Comparative Primary Directions. Calculating virtually all types of primaries, you can see which yields the best event timing. Comparative tables show hit dates produced by 8 different time-arc conversion keys, including Ptolemy, Cardan, Naibod, Placidus, Kepler, Kuendig, Van Dam, Sun's travel on birth-date, and user-defined. Direction types include Placidean, Regio and Topocentric, zodiacal or in mundo, direct or converse. Promissors and significators include 170 fixed stars. Additional goodies include speculums—Placidus (classic or under the pole), Regio, Campanus and Topocentric, plus one for Alcabitius house cusps—and a 360-division Gauquelin wheel (a.k.a. Placidus mundoscope) that clearly shows in mundo aspects and parans. Plus, an impressive celestial sphere shows in mundo relationships in the chart and how they change when points are directed. Selecting from its more than 100 menu choices, you can also use it to explore fixed stars, great circles, coordinate systems and houses.

Comparative Hellenistic, Arabic and Medieval Techniques. Special glyphs and color-coding show the traditional cosmic state of each point in a natal or animated chart wheel. Menus let you choose points, calculation methods (like different ways of calculating the Almuten) and make comparisons (like showing the hyleg, alcocoden and almuten according to 10 different sources).

Mesopotamian. In this brand-new module a new "3D" chart wheel shows the ecliptic, horizon and meridian, zenith and nadir, and the 3 Babylonian celestial paths—all against a background of fixed stars. Plus, you can see the quality of each ecliptic degree (lucid, shadowy, dark, or empty), equinoxes and solstices, dodekatemoria and oktotopos "houses." In addition to the usual tropical Ptolemaic zodiac, the ecliptic ring can show 2 types of Babylonian zodiac

New deeper coverage of stellar and planetary heliacal phases includes the ability to plot them as sensitive points on a chart (including showing successive heliacal Venus phases as a pentagram). To better pinpoint when a heliacally rising body is actually first visible, an "atmospheric extinction" factor, based on over 230 first-hand observations, is added to the geometrical calculations. There's also a handy chronological listing of heliacal and other celestial events. Windows 98 through 7 (32- and 64-bit).

Accessory Programs

Creating Wondrous Mandalas from Any Planetary Pair

You select a pair of planets, a planet to view them from, a start date, an interval, the number of steps, and a color scheme. The Astrological Mandalas program then draws lines between the two planets at regular time intervals, or plots the two orbits in relation to each other. The result? Patterns of spectacular mathematical beauty! Many patterns suggest the qualities of the planets involved.

For inspiration, you can also view pre-done mandalas in slideshow or random mode. Besides enjoying mandalas on the screen, you can print and save them.

Except for the

Moon, all the regular planets are included, plus the 8 Uranian planets, Ceres, Pallas, Juno, Vesta, Chiron and Eris. Windows XP through 7, with 262 mb disk space.

■ Astrological Mandalas, $19.95

Converting the Chart to Music

Designed by bestselling New Age composer Gerald Jay Markoe, the *Astro*Music* program calculates the chart, and then converts it into mathematical ratios that correspond to tones and rhythms. Starting with the standard settings, you can create different effects by varying the pitch, tempo, chords and orchestration. You can play this music on your computer, record it for future plays, or print the note sequences as a basis for written compositions.

You can also play the music of the current moment, hearing the tones subtly change as the planets move across the sky at your locality. Many have found the music of “now” and the music of their own chart to be a profound meditative experience.

As a bonus, you also receive a free Best of the Pleiades CD, compiling the most popular tracks from Gerald Jay Markoe’s best-selling albums of celestial music. Windows or Windows-enabled Mac.

■ Astro*Music (+ Bonus CD), $39.95

Living in Sync with the Moon

This handy little program helps you live in tune with the Moon by supplying all manner of useful information on its cycles. In colorful strips that you can mix and match, you’ll be able to see the Moon’s current phase and position (tropical or sidereal) • next new/full Moon and upcoming eclipse • void of course times • Arabic lunar mansion and Vedic nakshatra • conjunctions to the Nodes and the points square the Nodes (traditionally known as the “bendings”) • apogee and perigee • and phase angle with the Sun.

For you personally it also gives dates/times of your lunar returns and lunar phase returns (fertility chart—same Sun-Moon angle as at birth).

Plus, gardeners will find the best times to plant, weed and eradicate pests, and those living near the sea will find the days of spring and neap tides.

Windows 2000, ME, XP, Vista or Windows 7. ■ AstroTides, $65

Complete Astro Font

This medium-weight TrueType and Type 1 font has all the regular and Uranian planets, major asteroids, signs and aspect symbols easily accessible on the keyboard. Plus, using the Alt key gives access to alternative planet and sign symbols, Moon phases, subscripts, stars from three to many points, and more. Proportionally spaced and with serifs, this font looks especially good in text.

■ Astrolabe Font 1, $50

Carolyn Egan's Long-Range Weather Forecasting Course

Whether or not you intend to make astrological weather forecasting your specialty, adding its techniques to your skill repertory will enable you to help clients schedule important weather-dependent events like weddings and trips. This easy-to-follow, carefully graded course builds upon the classic weather teachings of C.C. Zain and George McCormack with 15 additional years of testing and observation by astro-weather expert Carolyn Egan. The CD format enables you to go from frame to frame at your own pace, listening to her clear and organized presentation while viewing (and, if you wish, printing) the charts and handouts.

CD 1: The Basics ($75) covers the weather-related meanings of planets and aspects, and an introduction to ingress and lunar phase charts for seasonal and weekly predictions. As examples, there are beginning analyses of three types of destructive and deadly weather events: a Gulf coast hurricane, a Midwest tornado, and a Santa Ana winds firestorm.

CD 2: Beyond the Basics ($75) contains a more detailed analysis of the three major example storms, with the full charts and aspect lists included. It covers how to predict wind velocity and timing, and how to use locational charts to pinpoint where weather events will occur. It also presents advanced techniques, including midpoints, declinations, and comparing the ingress and lunar phase charts. Plus, there are detailed steps for constructing daily and 13-week forecasts, and also a comprehensive study of a major storm. As a bonus, there is a resource list, including recommended books and software, where to find free charts, and links to useful web pages.

Besides showing how one astrologer uses Solar Fire in practice, this course also presents a clear and systematic method for reading charts that is applicable to all the work that you do. The CDs are available singly or as a set.

The cornerstone of a great report collection: the classic natal reading

Over the years, Professional Natal Report has helped thousands to use the strengths of each of their planets, to be aware of the excesses, and to rejoice in their own individuality. This report is noted for its solid astrology, helpful advice, and an exemplary thoroughness that includes delineations even for minor aspects like the quincunx and semisquare, for empty houses, and for less- as well as more-than-average emphasis in elements and modes.

Version 2's expanded 150,000-word text database includes revised interpretations, new introductions, and a complete set of Chiron delineations by Ronnie Gale Dreyer. Reports average about 30 pages. As a bonus, you can add an attractive illustrated 12-page "astrology in a nutshell" supplement to the printouts.

As with all Astrolabe reports, you can create and store different report versions for different uses. You can omit sections, change the type and formatting, select the style of the graphic wheel page or omit the wheel entirely, insert your own ad page, and choose your own aspect orbs and house system (there are 40!). This program also allows you to rewrite the text and adjust the weight given to each planet in tallying the elements and modes.

The remarkable flexibility, completeness and good, solid astrology in this natal report makes it an ideal foundation program for all the reports that you do.

ASTROLABE Reports

Insightful text, plus a striking presentation, equals the finest, most salable reports on the market.

From Professional Natal Report:

The Main Emphasis in Your Chart

The general distribution of planets around you at your birth is one of the things that shows the overall shape of your personality. Before taking a closer look at the details, let's stand back for a moment to see whether your chart contains any obvious emphasis in a sign, group of signs, or other division of the horoscope wheel.

There are many planets in Fire signs.

With many planets in either Aries, Leo or Sagittarius, you are likely to be one of the original self-starters. Passionate and full of strong feelings and ideals, you do not need external stimuli to get you moving in new directions. Drama is your mantra. Perceiving life as a game with high stakes, you are just as passionate when you win as when you lose.

From Professional Forecaster:

22°48' Virgo to 22°48' Gemini
Begins Aug 17 2004 7:28:36 AM EDT
Ends Aug 27 2004 12:02:33 AM EDT
This transit excites and energizes. You could be active and productive now, or you could get carried away with yourself. Don't get caught up in your own ego needs. Regulate your impulses and competitive instincts.

4:47:28 AM EDT Solar arc Ascendant conjunct natal Pluto - Exact. *

Transits, progressions and solar arcs, all in one insightful, multi-purpose forecast package

With its 5 major text databases totaling over 800 pages of interpretations, the Professional Forecaster is several report programs in one—an encyclopedic predictive program that includes not only transits, progressions and solar arc directions to the natal chart, but also progressed-to-progressed and transit-to-transit aspects and ingresses.

In any given report you can mix forecasting techniques and the selection of planets and aspects in virtually any combination. With the pre-made report formats that are included, you can start out right away doing weekly, monthly and yearly forecast reports, with appropriate options selected for you. You can also do solar arc reports and mundane (world events) forecasts. If you wish, you can modify the existing report formats or create additional ones, adding them to the program's menus and button bars for instant recall.

You can of course control fonts, margins, and the selection of planets just as you can with the other Astrolabe reports. You can also choose whether to print natal and progressed wheels and a handy summary list of the transiting and progressed events. You can even include a yearly bar graph of transits, progressions, directions and ingresses that makes it easy to see how these overlap in time.

Bruce Scofield's mammoth 500,000-word text database reflects his many years of experience with clients. He includes interpretations not only for nine types of transiting, progressed and directed aspects, but also for sign and house ingresses, direct and retrograde stations, and the void-of-course Moon in the signs. If you wish, you can add your own touches to his text, or rewrite as much of the text as you wish.

With its huge text database and many options, the Professional Forecaster enables you to create a wide variety of predictive reports for sale, for professional use, and to track your own life and the lives of people you care about.

Combines synastry and composite charting in one complete love and marriage report

Now you can look at a relationship from all angles, combining the best of classical chart-comparison practice with the more modern technique of composite charting.

The first section appraises each partner's basic temperament from emphasis in elements, modes, signs and houses. Then there's a study of the sign on, rulership of, and planets in each person's 5th, 7th and 8th houses of romance, partnership and sex. Then comes how the two charts relate to each other, with aspects between the two charts and an interpretation of the planets of each person in the other's houses.

The second section creates one composite chart out of the two birth charts, and reads it much like a natal chart to describe the quality of the relationship itself.

Joan Negus's all-new text database totals over 500 pages and covers a variety of ways each combination can play out. She discusses both strengths and weaknesses, and offers many practical suggestions for building on the strengths to create a happy and satisfying long-term relationship.

From Complete Relationship Report:

Diana's Moon is in your Eighth House.

Diana may be gentle and tender in your sexual activities, so that you feel especially loved and nurtured in this area of your life. The other extreme, however, could be that she is inconsistent when it comes to sex — sometimes wholeheartedly involved and at other times just not in the mood. If your sex life is an emotional roller coaster, you could find it exciting not knowing what to expect next. But if you yearn for continual emotional support and tender loving care, you might get it by showing it. Nurture your partner a little.

Charles's Pluto is trine Diana's Ascendant.

This may be truly a transformative relationship from which you each emerge greatly changed. In particular, Charles is able to help Diana transform her body and her manner of approaching the world. There may also be an especially strong physical attraction between you.

Your composite Sun is in Virgo.

As a couple you and your partner can get ego gratification from working hard and being of service. In fact, it is easier for you to work than to play. You will strive to attain practical goals, but it is essential that you earn those goals, and so you may mistrust rewards that come too easily . . .

From EroScope:

Enticing Venus is in Leo

With Venus in Leo, male or female, you are delightfully easy on the eyes, in some sunny, inexplicable way. Creative sunlight beams out from various places on your body, giving it that ray-of-sunshine-bursting-through-the-clouds effect. When in love, you are affectionate and radiate joy at your partner and the surrounding world. Your desire nature burns fiery and ebullient, and you are openly expressive and passionate with the objects of your benign adoration. You expect the same adoration in return, and if you do not receive this, you will place your fierce lion jaws (and claws) about your lover's neck until your lover responds accordingly. If they do respond, they'll receive your great bounty of warmth and heat to light their nerve endings with scarlet fire. . . .

A playful take on sex

EroScope zeroes in on a person's love-making style and sexual needs. It begins, "If you are looking for a romantic, lovey-dovey astrology report, you won't find it within these pages. Instead, you'll find a scent that's musky, and a feel that's moist." This feisty and free-wheeling romp through the sexual side of a chart is unlike anything you've ever seen!

You'll find delineations of everything from the Ascendant ("your animal skin") to the Sun ("your vital and energetic glow"), Moon ("that swirling tropical cocktail of milky needs"), to Pluto (that "scalding cauldron of death and rebirth"). The report offers all kinds of kinky and spirited suggestions for ways to have fun and challenge your boundaries. EroScope prints out to about 25 pages and includes illustrations.

The instruction manual that you wish had come with your child

Gloria Star's *Optimum*Child* report details the needs, potentials and probable developmental course of any child from infancy through teen years. Written in a chatty, easy-to-read style, each report covers the child's personality type, how to promote intellectual and physical development, how to understand the child's unique emotional makeup, and how best to foster his or her creativity and spirituality. An extra chapter on how the child is likely to view the parents can contain some surprising and helpful insights.

*Optimum*Child* reports are an ideal gift for new parents. They're also a rich source of ideas and strategies for any parent or teacher who wishes to give a child the best possible start in life. These reports are packed with information to help caregivers understand a child's uniqueness, deal with special problems, and, most important, nurture his or her inborn gifts.

The *Optimum*Child* report reflects the observations of Gloria Star, who is a specialist in child astrology and who has written a best-selling book on the subject. For this reason, the author's name and copyright notice appear in all reports, and the individual reports and the text database itself cannot be rewritten by the user. The user can, however, design the look of the printouts, choose house systems, and omit sections to make shorter reports. The typical *Optimum*Child* report gives 20-25 pages of insightful and informative text and has become a favorite with our users.

ASTROLABE Reports

The "Signature Series" reports

*Optimum*Child*, Asteroid Goddesses and Mayan Life Path Astrology carry the byline of famous astrologers and reflect their own expert insights.

Unlike the other reports, Signature Series reports are not editable.

From *Optimum*Child*:

The Sun Sign and Ego Development

The sign of Meryl's Sun will show how she might like to be perceived, what she needs in order to feel motivated toward achievement, and what makes her feel significant and special in the world. This aspect of a child's personality tends to become more apparent after the earliest years, as the full expression of the ego takes some time to develop. However, even early on, Meryl is likely to show at least some of the qualities of her Sun sign.

In Meryl's case, childhood years may be long-remembered, since her Cancerian Sun stimulates a special fondness for family and the associated experiences that identify family ties. As a baby, Meryl prefers close physical contact. . . .

From Asteroid Goddesses:

Pallas in Aquarius

This suggests that your creative intelligence is best expressed through original or futuristic perception. You can perceive possibilities that are on the cutting edge of whatever field you pursue.

As a healer, you could well heal through the mind, particularly addressing people's social circle, as in relational psychology. You could also be attracted to the very latest advances in medicine, or to "far-out" concepts such as vibrational or energy healing that make use of sound, color or light. The science of homeopathy might also fall into this category.

As an artist, you may be attracted to new or radical art forms that are ahead of their time, or be adept at bringing the latest . . .

The Divine Feminine in a patriarchal world

The first four asteroids to be discovered, Ceres, Pallas Athene, Juno and Vesta take their identities from the major Greek deities that are omitted from the usual set of astrological planets. A divine feminine quarternity, they form a self-contained symbol system that provides special extra insights into issues like parenting and nurture, career, partnerships, sexuality and spiritual growth.

The Asteroid Goddesses report is based on Demetra George's and Douglas Bloch's ground-breaking book of the same name, but it provides expanded delineations and new concepts not found elsewhere.

After an informative introduction to asteroids in astrology, the report discusses each of these four key goddesses, including a retelling of her myth, the life stage she rules, plus interpretations of her sign and house and of her aspects to the rest of the chart.

Since this report reflects the unique views of experts in the field, it is not editable. As with the other Astrolabe reports, though, you can design the look of the printouts, choose house systems, and omit sections to make shorter reports. The reports average 50 pages, giving detailed, in-depth information about dealing with the goddess energies in both women and men.

■ Asteroid Goddesses by Demetra George & Douglas Bloch, $295

Learn more about these essential archetypes in your nature:

Ceres, the Mother, known to the Greeks as Demeter. This great goddess of the creation and cyclic continuity of life speaks of our nurturing qualities, our bonds with our children, our relationship with food, and our recovery from loss.

Pallas, the Daughter, known more commonly as Athene. Sprung from the brow of Zeus, she rules strategy, healing and the practical arts. She reveals the creative wisdom in all of us.

Juno, the Wife, known to the Greeks as Hera, consort of Zeus. She tells us how we approach marriage and other committed relationships.

Vesta, the Sister, known to the Greeks as Hestia. The goddess of the hearth, she also shows how we tend the inner flame of our spirituality and also, surprisingly, our sexual energies.

The psychological power of Mayan astrology

Fascinated by the ancient Maya/Aztec astrological tradition, astrologer Bruce Scofield spent decades surveying the source material, speaking with current native practitioners, and pondering what these mysterious and powerful ancient symbols could mean in modern life. Not content with mere theory, he then checked and refined his interpretations in the light of many hundreds of client and celebrity charts. The result is the Mayan Life Path Astrology report.

Each report begins by describing and picturing one of the 20 Mayan/Aztec day-signs. Like our Sun signs, these signs, which have names like Wind, Alligator, Earthquake and Flower, each describe a fundamental character type. This is overlaid and enriched with other cycles—including the cycle of 4 Venus phases, which, mirroring stages in the journey of the god Quetzalcoatl, depicts a person's orientation toward others.

Together, all these layers create a psychologically penetrating portrait of a person's core character, unconscious motivations, orientation toward others, deepest life purpose, and traits shared with others born in the same year. While it usually reinforces what your Western chart says, Mayan Life Path Astrology also provides a new slant and many valuable new insights.

As a bonus, each 15-page report includes "peak" or turning-point dates for the current 5-year period, plus a mini-course on this exotic but highly sophisticated and psychologically revealing tradition.

"Scofield's delineations of the day-signs are like x-rays that cut to the basic issues confronting the human personality." -- Anthony Louis, M.D., psychiatrist; author of Horary Astrology

From Mayan Life Path Astrology:

Grass

With Grass as your day-sign, you are likely to be a sensitive person. You may be emotionally fragile, psychic, or simply acutely aware of the emotional and psychic dynamics that go on around you. It is this awareness that is at the core of your politeness and personal refinement. You like people, and you want to be of help to others, but you are easily hurt by criticism or rejection. If something upsets you, however, you will seldom reveal this to others. On the surface you are compromising, but you are resilient underneath.

Possessed of strong, almost driving, ambitions, you work very hard to achieve your goals. You don't overstress yourself, however. It is your persistence that counts the most. While you are competitive, you prefer to avoid direct competition. Working alone is often a good solution to your primary dilemma of self-interest vs. compromise. Ultimately, you want peace, almost at all costs, and will work very hard to avoid a fight or even bad feelings. . . .

From Personal Numerology:

Your name total is 1.

The Expression number 1 makes you tend to be a strong individualist, both self-reliant and dependable. A natural leader, you're at your best when in charge. You're capable in almost any business or art form, and your possibilities are unlimited when you can do your own thing. Directness is one of your great strengths, but do not let your ego and impatience get in the way of your effectiveness. Also, take care that your mind does not run ahead of your ability to implement your ideas.

Additional insights through numerology

Personal Numerology adds a unique slant not provided by astrology, and it has special market potential because it needs no time or place of birth. Delineating the numbers found in the name and birthdate, it casts light on a person's destiny, major tasks, talents, skills and life cycles in a way that can show the whole sweep of a lifetime in a few pages. At the end, there's a close-up view of the year, month and day numbers for any two-year period that you specify.

This revised and expanded version has all-new introductory material, lucky numbers for each current month, optional master numbers above 22, discussions of the weekday of birth and the first vowel in the name, and two years, rather than one, of current progressed numbers. It also has a picture and discussion of the Tarot card that corresponds to the name-date total, and it gives suggestions for using the Tarot to carry the numerology reading further. These additions, plus a fuller, more flowing text, expand the average report to 15 or more pages.

This version of Personal Numerology is also more customizable than ever. You can choose Pythagorean, Chaldean or your own letter-number equivalents, reduce the birthdate in five different ways, calculate life-cycle lengths by three different methods, choose when to treat Y and W as vowels, select whatever sections you want to include--and, of course, rewrite the text as you please.

About ASTROLABE

Founded as Astro-Graphics Services in late 1979 by the astrologers Robert Hand, Gary Christen, Arthur Blackwell, Steve Blake and Patricia White, Astrolabe is celebrating its 33rd year. Starting with programs for the Radio Shack TRS-80, the Apple II and early CP/M computers, it is now a world leader in astrology programs for Windows that also run on Macs. It also publishes Celeste, a free chart-casting program for mobile devices. Besides offering programs for individual users, Astrolabe develops custom software for third-party commercial use, including the Kiosk, a turnkey astrological package that you can get for your website. In addition, the Michelsen-Simms Trust has appointed Astrolabe to administrate the ACS PC Atlas and license it to other software and web developers.

Astrolabe also provides a full range of chart-calculation and astrological report services. Its website, ALABE.COM, generates more than 4 million free natal charts each year as well as offering many popular charts and reports for sale.

Along with president Gary Christen and vice-president Pat White, Astrolabe employs astrologers Madalyn Hillis-Dineen and Ray White at its offices in Massachusetts. It has a semi-autonomous division in Great Britain and direct-mail customers in countries from Argentina to Zimbabwe. Its staff lectures for local astrology groups and at major astrological conferences, where Astrolabe is usually a vendor. Astrolabe also sponsors educational events at its headquarters on Cape Cod. What Is an Astrolabe?

The astrolabe (AST-ro-labe) was the principal tool used by our astrological forebears from ancient Greece to the 18th century. This elegant instrument was actually an analog computer—a working model of the sky as it appears to turn about the earth each day.

We at Astrolabe are part of the long heritage of astrological toolmakers. Our goal is to continue their tradition of precision and ingenuity, adding the remarkable power and speed of today's digital technology.
